KOSOVO RESOURCE CENTER FOR CIVIL SOCIETY

GUIDELINES FOR APPLICATION FOR GRANTS FOR VOLUNTEERISM

INTRODUCTION

Kosovo Resource Centre for Civil Society aims to develop capacities of civil society organizations in Kosovo through, tailor-made trainings, mentoring and coaching, help desk services as well as sharing continuous information in regards to organizational development and civic activism. In addition, the project implements granting scheme for volunteerism to support initiatives of civic activism and volunteering.

Grants for volunteerism are intended to deliver concrete results within a set timeframe. Beneficiaries of these grants may be individuals, unregistered initiatives and non-governmental organizations with the most compelling, creative proposals that have high potential to engage Kosovo citizens in addressing issues of their communities.

1. BACKGROUND

Citizens’ engagement and volunteering encourages people to be more active in the public sphere and, at the same time, establishes new connections between different sectors, communities, and neighborhoods.

Voluntary engagement also contributes to increased solidarity and interaction between people, thus creating a safer environment and citizens who are committed to addressing issues of public interest, and generally supporting groups in need and the wider community1.

Kosovo has a diverse and active civil society that has continuously contributed and has an essential role in country democratization and decision-making processes in last two decades. Also, the historical data from the public opinion surveys on citizens’ trust towards sectors/institutions, have listed civil society amongst 2-3 most trusted institutions. More concretely, latest opinion polls show that 52% of Kosovo’s citizens trust the work of civil society. However, number of citizens involved in civil society activities is relatively low.

Data from public opinion survey2 shows that only 3.7% reported that they have been engaged as volunteers in CSOs, or that they have supported any cause raised by civil society (4.8%).

The figures are relatively similar when it comes to citizens participating in the work of CSOs or providing any financial support to CSOs. Only about 4% of citizens’ report that they have participated in CSO activities, while less than 3% have donated funds to support the work of any CSO.

With the aim to increase the potential for greater impact, increase in interpersonal trust and social cohesion, CSOs need to make more efforts for regular communication and involvement of different groups of citizens in their work.

Given the trust that civil society holds, it remains one of the most viable mediums for promoting and developing a culture of community engagement and volunteering for issues of the public good.

Through this call, support will be provided to civil society initiatives throughout Kosovo that seek to bring about transformations at local/municipal and/or national/central level. In particular, at least half of grants will be awarded to applicants based and operating outside of Pristina.

g. Citizen engagement and volunteer engagement

Engagement of citizens throughout the implementation of the supported initiative, as well as volunteer engagement of both implementing parties and targeted citizens are important elements required for these grants.

Applicants are expected to elaborate on how they intend to engage citizens, clearly identify and analyze the group of citizens they will target and engage through this grant, why their engagement and participation are relevant for their initiative and the different ways that they intend to engage them. In doing this, applicants are expected to be cognizant of the differences within the targeted citizens (such as sex, age, ethnicity, religion, education, location, socio-economic circumstances, interests and needs) and adapt their proposals and intervention accordingly.

Applicants are also required to demonstrate that their engagement, as well as the engagement of the targeted citizens and other stakeholders is done on voluntary basis. In very specific cases when payment of certain symbolic fees is absolutely necessary for the achievement of the goal of the project, applicants are required to properly justify such a necessity.

h. Internal governance

Internal governance of NGOs remains an important aspect in efforts to improve and build the trust of citizens in the civil society sector and to be able to lead by example of good governance, transparency and accountability towards the public.

All NGOs that will be awarded with a grant will be supported by KCSF on issues of good governance practices, sound financial management and tenets of transparency, anti-corruption and accountability.

i. Networking Groups

In order to foster greater collaboration for joint action between grantees, Kosovo Resource Centre for Civil Society will provide different platforms and meeting venues where grantees can meet, exchange and share experiences amongst each other. Joint organizing and action on issues of common interest would be an intended outcome, thus it is expected that grantees will be proactive in identifying and contributing to opportunities for cooperating with other volunteer and civil society initiatives in their areas of interest or geographical location.
j. Cross cutting issues

Gender mainstreaming as a tool towards gender equality will be a crosscutting issue throughout all interventions. As a general rule, all grantees are required to extend their interventions equally, be mindful of the effects of the intervention for men and women, boys and girls, and avoid contributing to harmful stereotypes. All grantees are expected to collect and maintain data disaggregated by sex. For guidance on gender mainstreaming, please see the short document in KCSF website.

5. EVALUATION AND NOTIFICATION

Evaluation of applications for the Grants for Volunteerism will be done in two phases:

During this phase all applications are assessed if the following has been respected/submitted:

1. All administrative and technical requirements indicated in the application form;
2. Mandatory documents, including the eligibility of applicants;
3. Budget size;
4. Grant duration.

Applications that do not meet the specified criteria will be rejected.

The results of the administrative control will be communicated to each applicant in written form.
b. Evaluation of applications and final decision

Applications that pass the administrative control will be evaluated by a Grants Evaluation Team (GET) consisting of three external experts with relevant expertise and knowledge. GET will evaluate the proposals in two stages 1) through review of documents and 2) public interviews.

The Grants Evaluation Team will evaluate applications based on the following criteria:

- Relevance of the project and logic of intervention (30%)
- Citizen engagement and volunteer engagement in the project (50%)
- Relevance of previous experience (10%)
- Cost-effectiveness of the proposed budget (10%)

The maximum evaluation per application is 100 points.

After the initial evaluation of the submitted application and all other mandatory documents, the applicants that receive at least 51 points (out of 100), as well as half of available points (50%) in each of the four categories presented above are shortlisted.

All shortlisted applicants will be invited for public interview. The interview of shortlisted applicants will be public and consists of a brief presentation of the grant proposal and a Q&A session with the Grants Evaluation Team members.

After conducting the interviews, the Grants Evaluation Team compiles the list of applicants who are recommended to be awarded for a project grant. To be considered for funding, applicants need to receive at least 71 points in total, as well as half the available points (50%) in each of the four categories presented above. The list of applicants recommended for a grant will be reviewed against the geographical quota whereby at least 50% of the beneficiaries will be organizations based and operating outside of Pristina.

The list of recommended applicants for funding is sent to donors, who have the right to veto in case any application is considered against the values promoted by the donor or are overlapping with other similar interventions.

The list of applicants recommended for funding will be finalized only after the donors have exhausted their veto power, as well as the fulfillment of any eventual conditions that may have been set during the preliminary evaluation process.
c. Notification of the decision and complaint mechanism

Each applicant who has participated in the application process receives a response regarding the evaluation process and the result of their application, including the total score. Unsuccessful applicants may request clarifications within 48 hours after they have received notification response. In case they consider their proposal was not evaluated based on merits even after receiving additional clarifications, applicants may submit an official complain. The procedure to request additional clarifications or complain is public on the KCSF website. Information on the selected grantees will be published in KCSF website after the contracts are signed.
